Observations...

By the Editor

With the death of our father, the author of Observations is no more. As he enjoyed writing this column for you, our readers, we shall try, to the best of our ability, to carry on as he would have wanted. With the assistance of my brothers, Curtis and Nelius, and our capable staff, the Sea Coast Echo will continue to operate. We ask that you bear with us in our dim hour as the loss of our loved one has left a sorrow in our heart that will take some time to heal. As our father's life was devoted to the betterment of his community, we shall strive, through the columns of this paper, to help carry his dreams to a reality. To our advertisers and subscribers, we want to say thank you for your kindnesses in the past and ask that you help us to build "a bigger and better" Echo — the dream of one man whose every thought was, through his paper, to aid in the progress of his community.

The second annual Harvest Ball, which was to be held at the Teen-Age Club Saturday, December 1, has been postponed, according to an announcement received here this week from Mrs. B. R. Nobles, directress. The Ball, which has been rescheduled for December 15, was slated to have as its rulers Gregory Elton Favre and Miss Alice Dupaquier.

Have you ridden over the bridge in the last couple of days? If you haven't, better have your car checked before and get some extra good shock absorbers put on. The holes are getting a little too large for comfort. Heavy trucks and continuous traffic going over it every day, won't help the situation. Even the repairmen, who have tied up a line of cars all during the day for some time now, can't seem to do any good. How about this, Mr. Smith? You know that dilapidated hurricane-battered, death trap which has been damaged by fire over six or seven times won't last for the next two years until the new four-lane structure is completed. Have you ever stopped to think that some day an automobile, bus or one of the larger transport trucks might go through that old weather-beaten bridge? What a remorse of conscience you will have then if lives are lost. A little forethought and action will save a lot of grief and guilt at a later date. Don't waste the state's money on having the repair crews fill those holes, which get larger each time they are fixed. Why not do something to preserve this pitiful bridge until the "Monument to Political Inefficiency" is completed in 1953. That's a long time to go. The cars are really going to catch it.

Our hats are off to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for lighting Bay St. Louis and getting that old Christmas spirit aroused in the residents and businessmen.

The sand beach is beginning to look like something new that the bulldozer has gone to work. Harrison County has bragged about its "longest man-made beach" so much that it's now time for Hancock County to start "tooting" its horn a little. It seems that our strip will be cleared sooner than that of our nearby neighbors. While on the subject of the beach, why doesn't the Park and Playground Commission get to work on cleaning up some of those weeds and get some help from the County and other sources to get rid of those old pier stumps in the water.

POSTPONE 4-H POULTRY SALE

Because of the death of A. G. Favre, the 4-H Poultry Sale was called off Saturday, November 24, and will be held Saturday morning December 8, at 11:00 o'clock.

There were 10 4-H boys and girls in Hancock County donated 100 chicks a piece by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. Twelve pullets from each of the projects will be sold at auction to the highest bidder at this time; the proceeds from this sale will be used for the promotion of the poultry project for another year.

These pullets, approximately seven months old, are starting to lay, and all indications show that they will become excellent layers.

These boys and girls have done a splendid job of raising these pullets. Show your interest in our boys and girls of Hancock County by your presence and your bidding on these birds at sale.

Hugo Haas of Bay Serves With Korean Platoon

With the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea — What is probably the most unique platoon in Korea stands guard duty day and night around the forward command post of the 1st Cavalry Division.

The unit is the "Purple Heart Platoon," a force made up entirely of men who have been seriously wounded in action.

The men, all of whom were hand-picked for the unit as a result of their combat records, man the long-barrelled 50-caliber machine guns and fat, dead-bagzooks that sprout from the hills all around the command post.

The platoon is led by 1st Lt. John A. Delaney of Cambridge, Mass. It is charged with the security of the command post area and several pieces of vital equipment within the perimeter.

One of the proudest possessions of the platoon is an armored car located at the front entrance of the command post. The vehicle contains a box holding the personal flags of all of the outstanding men who rode in the car when it led the 1st Cavalry Division on parade in Japan. General of the Army Douglas MacArthur's flag is there, along with those of many other military and civilian dignitaries who visited the division during its occupation in Japan.

The platoon also maintains a half-track mounting four 50-caliber machine guns as a lightning punch against any enemy attack. This type of equipment is not usual for a line platoon.

Three rifle and three weapons squads make up the platoon. Quietly and efficiently, the men of the Purple Heart Platoon do their job around the 1st Cavalry command post. But should the enemy ever come near their perimeter, they are ready and willing to back up their outstanding reputation.

Kergosien as Maggie and Jiggs, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lacoste as Santa Claus and the Red Nosed Reindeer; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Camors as the Hairless Man and the Dairy Maid; Mr. Leo Seal, Jr. as Wee Willie Winkle; Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Quigley as One of the Scraggy boys and Moonbeam McSwine.

Horace L. Kergosien was chairman of arrangements for the dance.

Alphonse Gabriel "Red" Favre Sr., editor and publisher of the Sea Coast Echo, died Thursday, November 22, at 5:00 p. m. at the home the family was building on Dunbar avenue.

Mr. Favre, who suffered a heart attack, died within five minutes after he was stricken; he was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Kings Daughters hospital.

The well-known editor, who was appointed a Colonel on Governor-elect White's staff, served as Clerk of Courts in Hancock County for 24 consecutive years; he retired from office January 6, 1948.

Born in Bay St. Louis February 18, 1900, Mr. Favre was the son of the late Azalie Rebecca Ladner and Joseph Leon Favre, and was the husband of the former Inez Adele Blaize whom he married October 24, 1923.

It is contemplated by the Mayor and Commission Council to expend approximately $1790.07 on hard surfacing of streets and drainage during the coming year. The revenues for this work will come from a cash balance on hand as of October 1, 1951, of $1261.54, and $528.52 from a Special Street Improvement Fund.

It is also proposed to spend approximately $7000.00 on street lights and $750 on street markers and signs; another $900 is proposed for construction and extension of streets and sidewalks.

The millage for the Water Works was reduced from three mills in 1950 to two mills in 1951. One-half of the mill reduction, to be used for the School Liquidation Note fund, and which will amount to $1,722.00, will be used to pay notes on property purchased by the City for school purposes.

The Park and Playground Commission will have a total of $13,425.39 to work with in establishing and maintaining parks, playgrounds, sand beaches, and public piers. Their funds will come from the levy of two mills, $6,890, and a cash balance on hand as of October 1, 1951, of $6,535.39.

Since their induction into office, the present administration has reduced the Bonded Indebtedness of the City from $221,200.00 to $136,500. For the past fiscal year, a reduction of $21,500.00 was made on the Bonded Indebtedness. The City is still operating on a cash basis.

GOODBY, DEAR DAD

As the pangs of grief shroud our heart like the dew, we feel almost helpless in our attempt to write the last paragraph to the line of the finest newspaper editor in the whole world, our dear Father, who went to his eternal rest last Thursday.

He was more than a Daddy to us; he was a great inspiration from the time we were a tiny tot until today, as his spirit lives in our heart. To some he was just a good citizen; to others, he was a fine fellow and a close friend and to still another group he was a public servant upon whose shoulder they could lean. His friends were legion and cherished amongst his greatest possessions.

Most of his life was given to public service; and we are proud, as he was, of the record he made. Any man who serves his country more than two score years in an office as important as Clerk of Courts must have been endowed with more than ordinary ability. To meet the trying demands of that office year after year and term after term, requires a man of considerable wisdom and rare gifts of character. His friends, as well as his family, saw in him those virtues, else his tenure in that important post would have been short.

In his role as editor of this newspaper, he called his shots, as he saw them, with the vigor of a lion. Without thought of his well-being, he worked ceaselessly against the wrong doings in the community and with just as much zeal for the good things. Some must have disagreed with him, but there was none whose respect he did not command.

Papa has gone now, gone to a better place where the ties of friendship and love are never broken and where only joy and peace reign. To say we will all miss him dreadfully is to utter a commonplace, because there is a vacant spot in our hearts that will never be filled. We are going to be as brave as we can. We know that he would want us to carry on, and carry on we shall. With the help of God and the splendid people of Bay St. Louis, we shall continue to promote our area as we know our dear father would have done.

We are going to do our dead level best to give the people of this section the type of newspaper they so much deserve. Our task has been cut out for us like a pattern by Divine Providence, Who knows all things, and does all things for good. We submit ourselves to His guiding hands, knowing full well that the good people of this area, Daddy's friends, will be tolerant with our short comings and will not let us down.

We cannot close this piece without thanking all his dear friends for their many kindnesses to him during his lifetime and to this writer and our family during this, our saddest hour.

Miss Gene Robin Becomes Bride Of Stewart Gilchrist Monday Evening

The Main Street Methodist church was the scene of a wedding Monday afternoon, November 26, which claimed much interest in New Orleans, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis. The contracting parties were Miss Gene Tydings Robin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tydings Robin of this city, and Stewart Gilchrist, son of Frank Gilchrist and the late Mrs. Gilchrist of Gilchrist, Oregon.

The ceremony took place at 5:00 o'clock; Rev. C. C. Clark, a close friend of the Robin family, officiated.

Against a background of woodwardia fern, standard baskets of graduated height filled with chrysanthemums decorated the chancel; seven branched candelabra holding lighted white candles reached across the chancel. Small containers filled with white chrysanthemums and tied with satin ribbon marked the pews.

Proceeding the entrance of the bride party Mrs. J. R. Rollins sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. J. Briscoe Goldman. Mrs. Goldman played the traditional marches for the entrance and exit of the bride party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of off-white dove satin fashioned on Princess lines; the tight bodice was finished with a cowl neckline and was button trimmed as were the long sleeves which ended in points over the hands. Her veil was an heirloom of rose point and Duchess lace which has been worn by many brides in the family. It hung in graceful lines and was held at the head by a band from which the veil fell. She carried sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride had as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Herron P. Turnipseed and Miss Mary Geals Gilchrist and Mrs. Frank R. Gilchrist, sister and sister-in-law of the bridegroom were the other attendants.

Mr. Gilchrist had as his best man his brother, Frank Gilchrist, and as groomsmen Thomas Cranford of Laurel and Leo W. Seal, Jr., of Bay St. Louis. The ushers were the bride's brother, Tydings Robin, and C. C. McDonald, Jr., Bay St. Louis.

The attendants to the bride wore leaf green taffeta dresses fashioned with long full skirts; the bodices were formed of deep tucks and off the shoulder necklines. They carried Talisman roses.

The wedding reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal Sr., close friends of the Robin family with Mr. and Mrs. Seal and Dr. and Mrs. Alva P. Smith entertaining jointly. Throughout the reception rooms and dining rooms tall baskets and pottery containers held great clusters of large daisy chrysanthemums, stock, and gladiolus. Surrounding the cake which centered a table covered with a lace and cut work cloth, and lighted by three branched candelabra holding white tapers, were white candelas. The three-tiered square based cake was topped with lilies of the valley. Mrs. Seal wore for the occasion a dark blue lace and taffeta dress with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Smith's dress was a crepe and lace combination in the Aqua shade and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The smaller tables were covered with matching cloths of lace and cut work. Presiding over the coffee table were Mrs. C. C. McDonald and Mrs. Ben Hill.

Easy Makes His "Cat" Tread Lightly

Driving home on Three Ponds Road yesterday, I was flagged down by Easy Roberts' boy Skeeter. "Take it slow," he advised. "Dad's crossing this road with our tractor, just beyond the bend."

Around the curve I saw why Skeeter stopped me. Easy had laid two rows of old truck tires across the road, and was driving his new "Cat" tractor over them! "More trouble this way," Easy explains, "but it does keep those tank tracks from tearing up the asphalt when I have to cross over to our other fields. After all, the roads belong to all of us—and I guess I'd get mad if someone else chewed them up."

From where I sit, Easy is my kind of citizen. He doesn't just give democracy lip service. He honestly believes it's his duty to consider the other fellow's interests. Whether it's the right to use the public highways or the right to enjoy an occasional glass of beer, Easy's out to protect his neighbor's "right of way."

Sellers Pupil Takes Trip To Dover, N. J.

Dickie Joe Ladner, 6-year-old Saucier, Miss., polo victim Friday acquired a top truck there to "plow snow with" when he gets to Dover, N. J., to start a month's vacation arranged for him by Dover's police force.

Dickie has been somewhat of a celebrity ever since last May 6 when a New York newspaper published a letter from his mother saying the youngster was eager for mail, but didn't get any. Floods of it have poured in since then.

And Dover's Police Benevolent Association sent his mother word to ship him there for an all-expense paid vacation on the department.

The plucky lad, stricken with polio when he was 13 months old, traveled alone from New Orleans. His mother is turning him over to the Dover police group. Dover cops will look after him throughout his stay.

The Gulf coast boy has never seen snow, and he is certain the New Jersey weatherman will oblige.

As far as flying is concerned, Dickie appeared to be a seasoned air traveler after flying in Friday morning from Gulfport. He didn't regard that plane trip, or Saturday's flight to New Jersey, as worthy of comment.

His mother, Mrs. Hannah Ladner left Dickie in the hands of an airplane stewardess, and she returned to Saucier. She said the boy has gotten "between 6000 and 7000 letters and postcards" since her appeal for mail was published.

The boy wears a four-pound steel brace on his right leg and navigates with only a slight limp. He is a first grade pupil Sellers elementary school, at a community near his home.

"I like school fine," Dickie said. He isn't worried about missing school, though, to make his jaunt to New Jersey.

In the final selection the students will be judged in addition to their musical ability on their poise, personality, personal qualities and conduct record. The Lions Club nor any District officials will in no way try to influence the final selections of the Band Committee.

The preliminary tryouts will be conducted during January and the final tryouts in February. Any student who has not been given an opportunity to file an application to enter the competition is urged to call or write Mr. Roy M. Martin, Box 125, Greenwood, Mississippi, to get an application form. The band will assemble at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg for training. They will entrain from this location for Mexico City to enter the Lions International band competition. This trip will be made in June, 1952. The 1951 Lions All-State Band won first honors at Atlantic City, Lions International Convention last July. The Band Masters will make every effort to again bring this honor to Mississippi.

Pass Christian News

By MRS. JOE ALLEN

B. Allen Writes About City Streets

Barbara Allen, 10, a sixth grade student in Pass Christian Public School and a member of the Good Citizenship Club, wrote the following paper in connection with club work:

PASS CHRISTIAN STREETS
By Barbara Allen
When I look out of the window at school, I see large live oaks. How old these trees are I do not know. Maybe they were growing when two large Indian mounds were on the spot where our school now stands! In later years, I am told, these mounds were used for street filling along the beach.

Streets are often named in honor of people important to the history of the town. This is true of some of Pass Christian's streets.

Davis Avenue was named after Ben Davis, who owned a strip of land and kept a store. He was Justice of the Peace in 1850.

Hein Avenue was named for Mr. Finley B. Hein who operated a sawmill and owned lots of land. Mr. Hein was the first Mayor of Pass Christian. Pass Christian did not really become a town until 1838.

Lang Avenue was named for Mr. John Lang who was a business man and a writer. He wrote a book entitled "The History of Harrison County, Miss."

Henderson Avenue was named for Mr. John Henderson, Sr., who donated the land for our Episcopal Church and the Live Oak cemetery.

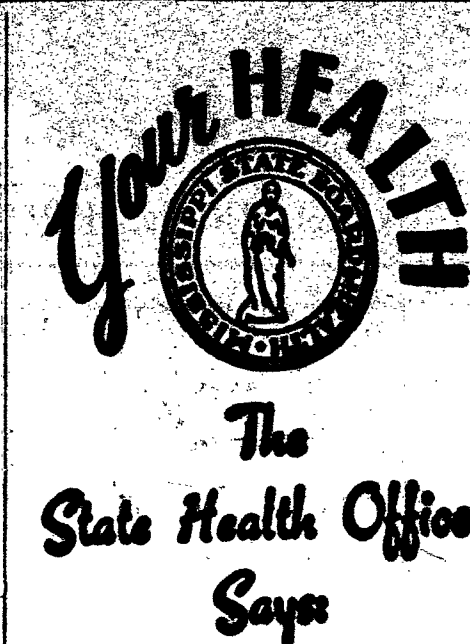

Pass Christian is thought to be the first town to use oyster shells for paving streets. These shells cost only 8c a barrel when first used.

There are three stories I have been told about how Pass Christian got its name. Some say it was named for Christian Ladner. He is said to have discovered the Pass in 1699 as a member of Bienville's party.

Others say the Pass was named after Nicholas Christian, who kept cattle on Cat Island and gave his name in Mobile as Christian Ladner.

Mrs. Minnie Myers, who wrote a book about the gulf coast, thinks the early Christian Fathers who taught about Christ are responsible for the town being named Pass Christian.

The White Public School used to be on Clark Street where the Negro school now stands. It had 36 pupils. During the Civil War there was a school on John M. Parker's land. The Yankees tried

NARCOTICS BECOME SERIOUS THREAT

Narcotic drugs have become an increasingly serious threat to the youths, both boys and girls, in several of our larger cities. The alarming extent of drug addiction among boys and girls under twenty-five years of age is discussed in the October issue of TODAY'S HEALTH, the publication of the American Medical Association formerly entitled HY-GEIA.

In Chicago alone, 3,136 addicts were processed in the Attorney General's office in six months. A census in Chicago's Cook County jail showed that 25 per cent of the prisoners were addicts, and 32 of them under 19 years old. The Chicago City Jail recently held 92 addicts under 21 years of age, 108 between 21 and 25, and 95 over 25.

Similar conditions exist in other large cities. For instance, in Detroit a federal grand jury to get white and colored children to go to this school. It didn't work. The white children would not go and the negroes didn't go often.

questioned 100 juvenile addicts. Police and press reports have aroused the citizens of both Washington and Baltimore.

These facts presented in "TODAY'S HEALTH" are important to you and to me. Our attention should be called to problems like dope addiction among our youth, for all of us profit from knowledge of such threats to our health and safety. More Mississippians should subscribe to this magazine—TODAY'S HEALTH—each issue of which carries valuable articles written by outstanding physicians for the information of the general reader.
